Know Before You Go: One Must-Know Fact per Destination

- HCMC: An old residential building became one of the city's biggest cultural icons (the Café Apartments) – without being renovated into luxury.
- Da Nang: It is Vietnam's "City of Bridges," home to the iconic Dragon Bridge that breathes real fire every weekend.
- Ba Na Hills: IT holds the world record for the longest single-track cable car, offering views straight out of a fantasy movie.
- Hoi An: It glows with over 3,000 hand-lit lanterns every night, earning it the name "City of Lanterns."
- Ha Long Bay: IT has nearly 2,000 limestone islands, many still unexplored and full of mythical legends.
- Hanoi: Hanoi's Train Street is one of the only places in the world where a train passes just inches from cafés and homes.

Vietnam has the world's largest cave — Sơn Đoòng, big enough to fit a 40-storey building inside!

Egg Coffee is a Vietnamese invention — a creamy mix of whipped egg yolk + coffee created during a milk shortage. (And yes, it tastes amazing!)

Hoi An's Old Town glows with 1,000+ lanterns every night, making it one of the most Instagrammable places in Asia.

Vietnam is home to the world's cheapest fresh beer — Bia Hoi, costing as low as ₹30–40 per glass.

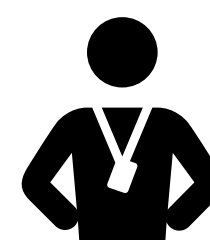

The streets of Vietnam have more scooters than people, giving the cities a unique, thrilling vibe you won't find anywhere else.
